WILL IMPROVE BRYAN STREET

I. & G. N. Officials Accept Plans and Award Contract For Improvements.

O. H. Crittenden, chief engineer of the International and Great Northern railroad, and C. P. DeWolfe, resident engineer of the Fort Worth division, located at Mart, were here yesterday on business connected with improvement of Bryan street, on which the oil mill spur track of the road is located.

After a conference with Mayor Harris, Engineer Adams and other members of the council, the officials of the road accepted the plans and specifications for the improvement of the street, prepared by Engineer Adams, adopted by the council and now on file in the city secretary's office.

The improvements call for curbs and gutters on either side of the street to be put in by the property owners, and the lowering of the track and street grade for the 70 feet between the curbs. After the grading is completed, the specifications call for eight inches of gravel on the entire street. The street will be cut down 20 inches at Anderson street, diminishing gradually to street grade north at Caldwell street and south at Fannin street.

The contract for the street grading was let by the engineers of the road to C. L. Bernay, who is paving the Main street intersections, and work will begin as soon as possible.
